

Bactoforce: better safe than sorry

Bactoforce is an independent inspection company servicing companies in the pharmacy and food industry. Our target is to help our customers preventing microbiological hazards in there processing of products.

Bactoforce was established in 1993 in Denmark. It now has branches in several European countries, as well as a company servicing global customers worldwide.

Would you like to be part of a team, working to improve food production safety? If so, a job at Bactoforce UK would be interesting for you. We are offering a position in a fast growing and developing company. Bactoforce UK Ltd. is looking for a:

Supervisor

to operate and develop our UK business in cooperation with the General Manager.

The right candidate would possess the following qualifications:

- Professional background from the food manufacturing industry
- Good knowledge of microbiology and process equipment
- English in speech and writing
- Flexibility: We always take care of the customer when the customer needs us

This position includes sale, inspections and administration. We are offering an attractive employment.

If you are interested, please send us your application in English before January 31st 2012 to glm@bactoforce.com

If you have any questions, please call Glenn Madsen, General Manager at Bactoforce UK, phone no. +45 40267761 or by e-mail at glm@bactoforce.com

